Berlitz and Dubois, English Notes to the first part of the former. Paper, 30

We invite educators particularly to examine this system of teaching languages. It is one of the few methods (probably the only one) that has accomplished the difficult task of uniting the practical study of language with thoroughness and correctness. By it the students are continually drilled in speaking and hearing the foreign idiom, without neglecting reading and writing it. The subject is presented to the student in such a manner, that he is forced to realize the exact meaning of words and their modifications, and to build up understandingly the various forms of clauses and sentences. The lasting success the Berlitz Method has obtained everywhere is a certain proof of its value and efficacy, and makes it the duty of all teachers of languages to examine or test this system.

STANDARD FICTION BY AMERICAN AUTHORS.

COMPLETE SETS IN UNIFORM EDITIONS.

Dr. J. G. Holland's Works.

"Dr. Holland will always find a congenial audience in the homes of culture and refinement. He does not affect the play of the darker and fiercer passions, but delights in the sweet images that cluster around the domestic hearth. He cherishes a strong fellow-feeling with the pure and tranquil life in the modest social circles of the American people, and has thus won his way to the companionship of many friendly hearts."—The New York Tribune.

"Dr. Holland's pen moves so easily and gracefully that we do not always appreciate fully the real poetic merit, the subtle meaning, the delicate imagery, and all the mingled truth and beauty that link in his smooth-flowing lines."—N. Y. Evangelist.

Donald G. Mitchell's Works.

"The light and easy movement of Mr. Mitchell's style, the graceful and delicate transitions which he makes, the quiet humor in which he so naturally indulges, the sly but good-natured satire which seems to drop so naturally from his pen, and the unaffected yet chastened pathos into which he rises for a moment, are all exquisitely brought into a varied and beautiful tissue, which is filled to give perpetual delight to the cultivated reader, and to be itself an instrument of culture and refinement."—The New Englander.

"His characters stand out clear, distinct, and life-like, with their several features of worldly wisdom, shrewd common sense, kindly feeling, and exuberance of spirits. His delineations are always graceful and truthful."—Boston Transcript.

Edward Eggleston's Novels.

"Dr. Eggleston's career as a novelist has been a peculiar one. His first work achieved a swift and unmistakable success. Its fresh and vivid portraiture of a phase of life and manners, hitherto almost unrepresented in literature; its boldly contrasted characters; its unconventional, hearty, religious spirit, and its reflection of the vigorous individuality of the author, took hold of the public imagination."—The Christian Union.

Frances Hodgson Burnett's Novels.

"She discovers gracious secrets in rough and forbidding natures—the sweetness that often underlies their bitterness—the soul of goodness in things evil. . . . Mrs. Burnett seems to have an intuitive perception of character. If we apprehend her personages, and I think we do clearly, it is not because she describes them to us, but because they reveal themselves in their actions. Scribner's Magazine.

PUBLISHED MONTHLY. WITH ILLUSTRATIONS.

Twenty-five Cents a Number, $3.00 a Year.

The extraordinary success of SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE, the first number of which was dated January, 1887, has given ample proof that there is a place for a new Illustrated Magazine of the highest literary standard at a very popular price.

The "Unpublished Letters of Thackeray," which first appeared in SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE, created a genuine enthusiasm among all classes of readers.

The New York "Nation," speaking of these letters, says:

"They are a literary treasure. . . . There is not a word that one would wish unpublished. It is like meeting an old friend after many years and finding him unchanged."

PRESS NOTICES.

"Probably a history of magazine ventures would be unable to record any other success so signal, so deserved, and so gratifying. Everything printed has been well worth printing, many contributions have been of real importance, and some of them are to take their places at once as parts of that literature which does not die. From the start SCRIBNER has steadily grown better and better."—N. Y. Times.

"The New SCRIBNER'S has already made itself a place and a name, and it grows better every number."—Boston Courier.

"If ever a magazine was started with a place ready and waiting for it, the New SCRIBNER'S has that good luck."—New York Sun.

The high character and extent of the circulation of SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE make it a most desirable advertising medium. Prices furnished on application.

By JEANNE LOUISE HENRIETTE CAMPAN, First Lady-in-Waiting to the Queen. New edition, in 1 volume, with 4 portraits on steel. New and cheaper edition. Crown 8vo. Cloth, $2.25.

"Despite the stupendous mass of literature which exists in reference to the French Revolution and its antecedents, Madame Campan's 'Memoirs of Marie Antoinette' still supply the most vivid, and, as some writers say, 'masterful' collection of statements about the Queen. Perhaps there is no single book of anecdotic history which may be read with such advantage."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE MEMOIRS OF THE MARGRAVINE OF BAIREUTH. Translated and edited by H. R. H. Princess Christian. In 8vo, cloth extra, $3.75.

The Margravine was the sister of Frederick the Great, and exerted great influence over his character. Her Diary is a wonderful narrative of the petty intrigues and gossip of the German Court.

The volume has as Frontispiece an Autotype Copy of the Portrait in Berlin.

 Princess Christian, during her recent stay in Berlin, devoted much time and attention to the completion of the English edition of the Memoirs of Wilhelmine, Margravine of Baireuth, sister of Frederick the Great. The Princess has for this edition written a special introduction, explaining in a very interesting manner the main features of the general situation in Europe, and especially in Germany at that time. In order to prepare herself for this task the Princess made a diligent study of the original manuscripts in the Berlin Royal Library, the documents being placed at her disposal by the Crown Prince's special request. In the course of her studies the Princess discovered an excellent portrait of the Margravine by Pesne; and this, in the form of a beautifully executed autotype, stands as the frontispiece of the book.

ALLEN, F. G. The Old Path Pulpit. A book of original and doctrinal sermons.

358 pp., 8vo., silk cloth, laid paper. $2 00

Few men have so fine analytical powers of mind as Bro. Allen. This book of sermons is his best, ripest and richest production.—PRES. A. CLARK, Add Ran College.

A valuable addition to our standard church literature.—A. C Review.

We heartily commend the book as both interesting and valuable in the cause of truth.—Gospel Advocate.

Those who read it will not only be more devoted Christians, but they will also be greatly strengthened in the position of the Disciples.—PROF. J. W. LOWBER.

The gathered treasures of a life devoted to the highest work delivered to human hands to do.—PRES. A. P. ATEN, Lampasas College.

Good sermons to put in the hands of those who would know the views held by the Disciples of Christ. —Christian Evangelist.

They reveal scriptural knowledge, depth of thought, careful preparation, and an eye single to truth and to service in the cause of truth.—PRES. C. L. LOOS, Kentucky University.

BARCLAY, Prof. E. D. Hand-book on Baptism. A comparative view of the words Bathe, Wash, Dip, Sprinkle and Pour, of the English Bible, and of their originals in the Hebrew and Septuagint copies, together with other useful matter.

Cloth..... $ 50

The arrangement of the passages in tables gives new force to the argument.—National Baptist.

It seems to us a slight glance at it ought to satisfy all of the scriptural use of each word.—Gospel Advocate.

I have never met with any work on this or any kindred subject comprising so much in so little.—The Disciple.

We have seen nothing more valuable to Bible students who wish to be thoroughly posted on the action of baptism than this work. . . . It is a work that preachers can not afford to be without.—Old-Path Guide.

It is worth more to the investigator or thinker upon the mooted question of the action of baptism than many, many pages of the ordinary currency.—Christian Foundation.

BRENTS, Dr. T. W. The Gospel Plan of Salvation. The author is widely known as one of the ablest defenders of the Christian faith; and the fact that fifteen of the best years of his life were devoted to the preparation of this work, affords ample assurance that no thought, hastily or crudely conceived, will be found in the entire range of its copious and elaborate discussion. It embraces in its compass the following all-important themes: Predestination, Election and Reprobation, Calvinistic Proofs Examined, The Foreknowledge of God, Hereditary Depravity, The Establishment of the Church, The Identity of the Church, The New Birth, Faith, Repentance, The Confession, Baptism, What is It? Who should be Baptized? The Design of Baptism, The Holy Spirit.

667 pp., large 12mo., cloth..... $2 00

It is simple in its arragement, sufficiently comprehensive in treatment, and relies chiefly on the Word of God to settle all disputed questions.—The Christian Quarterly.

There is a fuller examination of the subject of baptism, and a more copious collection of authorities on this subject than can be found elsewhere. . . . It is opportune that such full authorities should be presented.—The Gospel Advocate.

This work is written in a clear, forcible nervous style—is both readable and instructive, and will, no doubt, prove of incalculable value in clearing away erroneous doctrines which now form one of the chief hindrances to many in receiving and obeying the gospel.—The Southern Christian Weekly.

BROWN, JESSIE H. Norman MacDonald.

Cloth..... $1 00

Of all the works of fiction that I ever read from "our own" writers, Norman MacDonald, in my estimation, easily takes first place, and if others of our serials have been deemed worthy of being put in book-form, then most certainly is this charming story worthy of the same.

Doubtless Mrs. Alden, as a gifted writer, has many an admirer among the Standard readers; but who of us has not felt, in the midst of all her beautiful thoughts, the great lack of tangibility, in making to appear plain the true pathway to the Christ. Oh, what a power for doing the work of the Master, has that consecrated child of God, whom he has endowed with a genuine talent for writing. Verily, proclaiming the truth is a sacred calling, and its proclaimers are not limited to the pulpit platform alone. We hope that Sister Brown may be encouraged to continue her efforts in this special field of literary work.—W. P. KEELER.

BUTLER, MARIE RADCLIFFE.

Poetry and Prose. Edited by Thos. D. Butler, with a Brief Memorial.

Cloth, 361 pp., elegantly gilt..... $2 50

A woman of earnest religious feeling, she wrote as she felt, without art or culture, but with an abiding sense of the seriousness of life and the certainty of death.—N. Y. Independent.

She was essentially a Christian poetess, and none can read her book and appropriate its thought and live the life it presents and develops, without being the better. —A. N. GILBERT.

There is a strength about her poetry that marks a master hand, but through it all we see the tender, loving soul of the woman.—The Oracle.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER. The Christian System, in Reference to the Union of Christians and a Restoration of Primitive Christianity, as plead in the current Reformation. The object of this volume is to place before the community in a plain, definite and perspicuous style the capital principles which have been elicited, argued out, developed and sustained in a controversy of twenty-five years, by the tongues and pens of those who rallied under the banners of the Bible alone. The principle which was inscribed upon these banners was, "Faith in Jesus as the true Messiah, and obedience to him as our Lawgiver and King, the only test of Christian character, the only bond of Christian union, communion and co operation, irrespective of all creeds, opinions, commandments and traditions of men."

12mo., cl th, 358 pp..... $1 50

Evidences of Christianity, a Debate between Robert Owen, of New Lanark, Scotland, and Alexander Campbell, containing an examination of the "Social System," and all the systems of skepticism of ancient and modern times. Held in the city of Cincinnati.

8vo., cloth, 465 pp..... $1 50

Christian Baptism, with its antecedents and consequents.

12mo., cloth, 444 pp..... $1 00

Five points are necessarily involved in this discussion, essential to a rational and scriptural decision of the question. These are (1) the action, called baptism, (2) the subject of that action, (3) the design of that action, (4) the antecedents, and (5) the consequents of that action. These are distinct topics, each of which must be scripturally apprehended in its evangelical import and bearings, before this solemn and sublime symbol can be truly enjoyed in its scriptural influence and importance. And such is the prominent and imposing attitude in which its author placed it, when, in giving a commission to his apostles to convert the nations of the earth to him, he makes this the consummating act of their preaching Christ—of converting and evangelizing the world. "Go," said he, "into all the world, convert the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.

Misconceptions of this institution are, it has been often remarked, more or less connected with misconceptions of the whole Christian institution, and lie as sub-basis of the present apostasy from original Christianity. By the grand "Mother of Harlots" and delusions it has been degraded to the rank of a mere rite or ceremony, and made a door of admission, wide as the whole world, into the bosom of what is impiously called "The Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church of Christ."

In view of this, the following treatise discusses the whole subject, in what its author esteems its natural and logical order, placing before the mind of the reader each and every point in its proper position and relative importance to the whole institution. This gives a somewhat miscellaneous appearance to the volume; but, in view of the whole premises, it will, he hopes, make it more really useful and satisfactory to every reader, so much interested in the subject as to give it a candid and careful perusal.—From the Preface.

DUNGAN, Prof. D. R. Chang Foo; or, the Latest Fashions in Religion. A story of a clever Chinaman in search after religious truth.

Cloth, 12mo., 313 pp..... $1 00

Novel in its form, it bears upon its pages the moral of truth. The plot of the story seems to have been wisely conceived, and it has certainly been developed in a masterly manner.—G. H. LAUGHLIN, President Hiram College.

The most striking thing to me about the book is the clearness with which many perplexing questions of our land and time can be viewed when looked at through the eyes of an honest and sagacious Chinaman. Living in their midst, by long familiarity with them, we have our sensibilities blunted and our perceptions dulled, but the moment we get outside, even in thought, and look at them with new eyes and mind how plain and clear they become! For this reason no one will read the book without benefit.—GEO. DARSIE.

EDWARDS, J. H. Orthodoxy in the Civil Courts; or, a History of the Case. "The State of Indiana on relation of J. K. Poyser and William A. Knight, plaintiffs, versus the Trustees of the Salem Church of the Methodist Society of the Haw-Patch Circuit of the Western Division of Michigan, alias the Trustees of the Salem Protestant Methodist Church; Alonzo T. Poyser, David F. Damy, John Hostetter, John Hite and Alvin H. Ramsby, defendants," which was tried in the Noble county, Indiana, Circuit Court, July 19 to 21, 1883, and in which was involved the orthodoxy of the Christian Church, embracing a verbatim report of the testimony given in the case. Edited by J. H. Edwards. To which is appended an argument, drawn from the testimony in the case, by W. D. Owen.

The case grew out of the occupancy by the Disciples of a meeting-house in possession of the Protestant Methodists, but which, as nearly half the cost of its erection had been paid by persons not members of that church, it was agreed should be "open and free to services of all other orthodox denominations when not in use by the Methodist Protestant congregation in its regular worship." After it had been occupied once a month for nearly a year, on Sunday afternoons, by J. H. Edwards, a preacher of the Christian Church, he was notified that he could occupy it no longer, "except on funeral occasions," whereupon a member of the Protestaant Methodist Church, and a gentleman, not a member of any church, both of them on the subscription paper for the building of the house, prayed the court a mandamus requiring the doors of Salem Chapel to be opened to J. H. Edwards and his congregation. In answer to this, it was charged that the Christian Church, or Church of Christ, of which J. H. Edwards is a member, is unorthodox, and preaches and practices things not lawful according to the Word of God. Thus the Disciples were called on, in a suit which they did not originate, to establish their orthodoxy.

W. D. Owen's argument, though not delivered, the charge of unorthodoxy having been withdrawn, is a searching review of the testimony and a bold vindication of the faith and practices of the Disciples.

I believe you will render a service to the cause of truth by putting this book out in popular form, so that it may be read by the natives.—A. B. JONES.

These studies are not critical or controversial. They do not discuss theological statements or deal with doubts created by materialistic scientists, but they do interest the reader in the Old Testament, and must lead to a more appreciative study of that portion of Holy Writ.—Christian Thought.

JACKSON, CORTES. New Testament with Apostolic References. (Revised edition.)

8vo., 510 pages, cloth..... $1 50

Bro. Jackson has gotten up an entirely new set of references upon a new plan, and it is this that distinguishes this from all other New Testaments. We all know that the references in our Bibles aid us but little in the study of the Scriptures; they are too numerous and irrelevant, so that the student is confused rather than aided in most cases, and he soon lays them aside. The great majority of readers never refer to them at all. From long observation, I am satisfied that references in our Polygot Bibles now in use are of comparatively little value.

This is all reversed in Mr. Jackson's New Testament; the references are well chosen and go to make the book its own interpreter, and I venture to say that a reader who will diligently study his Testament with the help of Bro. Jackson's references will learn more of the book and the plan of salvation revealed in it than from more than half the commentaries that have been written upon it. This is the distinctive feature of this Testament, and constitutes its claim upon our acceptance; its references are so few and well-chosen compared to those in common use that it becomes a real delight to study God's word with the help here afforded; indeed, to one who feels an interest in divine things, Bible-reading with the help of these references yields a rich entertainment. Horace has said that "he who mingles the useful with the entertaining carries every point," and this Bro. Jackson has done in an eminen degree.—PRES. R. GRAHAM.

This work is based on the simple idea that the New Testament, is self-interpreting, and that the parables and darker sayings of our Lord are explained by the writings of the Apostles, to whom the promise of the Holy Spirit to guide them into all truth, was made and fulfilled. The work can not be but very helpful to Bible students. From the beginning the author has had my heartiest sympathy in his labor of love, and now that it is complete I take pleasure in commending it to all lovers and students of the New Testament.—J. H. GARRISON.

JOHNSON, ASHLEY S. The Tennessee Evangelist. A volume of Sermons.

Cloth, 200 pp..... 75

This is a book of ten sermons on "First Principles." The author has a pungent way of saying things, and every sentence is a live one. In reading the book we tried to select one to commend especially, but all are full of gospel truth. It will be a good missionary. Get it and hand it around.—Texas Christian.

The book is presented in good style, and its contents are valuable, the subjects being of vital importance, and are treated candidly and logically.—Christian Quarterly.

These sermons are earnest, practical presentations of Scripture truth, and justify the title of the book—"The Evangelist"—for they seem more like a series of protracted meeting sermons than written discourses.—The Disciple.

LARD, MOSES E. Commentary on Paul's Letter to the Romans, with a revised Greek Text, compiled from the best recent authors, and a New Translation.

Octavo, 485 pp., cloth $2 50

On studying the letter in question, I had been constantly impressed with the conviction that no commentary on it, with which I was acquainted, was sufficiently free from the influence of particular scholastic tenets to meet the wants of those who desire to know the simple truth, as it is in Christ, without having it formulated in the schools, or modified by special theories of religion. I greatly felt the need of a work, the sole aim of which should be to determine precisely what Paul means, regardless of what that meaning favors or disfavors. Such a work I could not command. I soon discovered that those who had written on the Letter are, for the most part, intensely Calvinistic on the one hand, or intensely anti-Calvinistic on the other. Pau wrote to favor neither of the parties, hence neither of the parties as such can interpret him.

Again, the extreme doctrine of justification by faith only has so completely engrossed the minds of commentators since the sixteenth century, that it seems never to have occurred to them, as even a possible fact, that Paul may not have been writing in their exclusive interest. They have regarded him as certainly of their order, and, as a consequence, have written him up into a partisan, only more partisan than themselves. The result has been that in many places their works are complete perversions of the truth, and not an exhibition of it. From these writers I could derive no benefit except where their cherished doctrine was out of sight.

The present work is an effort to supply, so far as the ability is possessed, the deficiency here complained of. I only wish that I were able to feel that it is successful. I fear, however, the reader may be compelled to see in me the same fault which I have, with constant reluctance, seen in others. Still I am not without hope that this may not prove so.

The sole aim, then, of the present commentary is to ascertain the exact sense of Paul, and to express it in terse, clear English.—Author's Preface.

McDIARMID, H. Baptism—What is It? A discussion between H. McDiarmid and L. D. Watson, held in the Disciples' Chapel, Tonawanda, N. Y., beginning the 11th and closing on the 21st day of April, 1882. Reported by Geo. B. Hastings, Tonawanda, N. Y.

Cloth, 296 pp..... $1 00

A very clear and satisfactory discussion of the question at issue. It is well suited to the people at large, and its general circulation among them would do much good.—J. W. GARVEY.

McGARVEY, J. W. The Text and the Canon. A text-book on the evidences. The author proposes five separate and independent inquiries with regard to the New Testament: 1. Has the Greek text of the several books been preserved without material change? 2. Are these books the genuine writings of the men to whom they are ascribed? 3. Are they thoroughly reliable in their statements concerning matters of fact? 4. Were their authors miraculously inspired? and 5. What arguments are there in favor of the Christian religion, and what objections to it that are not involved in the preceding inquiries? As a text-book for schools and colleges, the work embodies in its text only such matter as should, in the judgment of the author, be retained in the memory of the student; while much that he should read, and that he should have at hand for convenient reference, is printed in footnotes. In this are included copious extracts from authors, both believers and unbelievers, whose opinions are referred to in the text, so that the student can verify for himself every statement, and also the various important documents derived from ancient literature which are not easy of access to those whose libraries are scanty.

Large 8vo., silk cloth..... $1 50

The simplicity of the style is not the least valuable feature of the work, and, because of this, it will be emphatically the book for the common people, for of its author it may be well said, as was once said of the Great Teacher, "The common people hear him gladly."—A. P. ATEN, Pres. Lampasas College.

The essential matter is brought within moderate compass, and presented in a clear and sufficiently exhaustive way, with conclusions stated in a form to help the reader in making the results of his perusal of the whole argument distinct and specific in his own mind.—The Standard, Chicago.

This is a valuable book, in that it presents the evidences of the integrity and genuineness of the New Testament in a plain and forcible manner that can be understood and felt by plain people, and even by youths. At the same time it is adapted to divinity students and theologians.—Western Christian Advocate.

The Christian Standard, in reviewing the first volume said: "The first volume is an exceedingly valuable work in the following particulars: It presents in careful detail the history of the early labors of the Campbells, father and son, in this country for reformation, and unfolds the steps of progression by which the movement was developed."

In reviewing the second volume, the same critic wrote: "The present volume treats more fully of the progress of the Reformation, and of Mr. Campbell's life and labors through his entire career, from his debate with Mr. Walker, in 1820, to his death, in 1866—a period of nearly half a century—a most stirring, anxious, noble, and glorious period developing a character of the noblest eminence, and unfolding a work, the influence of which in religious society, is only beginning to be felt."

"Nothing is hazarded by the assertion that no Christian preacher can afford to dispense with this invaluable Thesaurus of our ecclesiastical history. And the library of any Christian family that is minus this evolution of primeval Christianity from the chaos of sectarianism is minus a great blessing."

(Passe-partout) for the suitable and convenient exhibition, on the wall or elsewhere, of children's work in Perforating, Embroidering, Drawing, Weaving (Mat-plaiting), Paper-interlacing, Paper-folding, Paper-cutting, etc.

These Paper Frames are attractive and serviceable, having an open space — either right-angled or oval — for the display of the specimens of Kindergarten Work, so arranged that these can be readily inserted; they are made by the doubling of heavy colored card-board, have neatly printed borders, silk bands, and are ready for instant and repeated use.

They serve as on ornament to the room, while, more than this, they have the desirable effect of encouraging the children, who thus have before their eyes some work of their hands, which is a delight to their parents and appreciative friends.

The low price of these Frames permits their very extensive use as a means of preserving the neat and ingenious designs and productions of the children, which otherwise would be lost or considered an encumbrance.

by purchasing e. g. No. 21, 31, 61, 71, etc. without boxes (loose in paper). Of other items smaller quantities might be purchased. On the other hand, the selection may be made far more complete, according to the judgment of the Kindergartner.

The Catalogue on the foregoing pages supersedes all Lists previously issued; upon comparison considerable additions will be noticed, which increased manufacturing facilities have enabled us to make.

However extensive this Catalogue, it does not comprise all our stock of Kindergarten Gifts, Occupation Material, Furniture, etc. Many kindred articles are on hand, and new additions are continually being produced as fast as circumstances permit to carry out our plans and desires of promoting whatever tends to the development and popularization of the Kindergarten System. — The Thread Game, the Point-Laying, the Painting, the Silver Canvas goods, etc. enumerated on the preceding pages may be regarded as evidences of such activity.

☞ The designation by numbers (No.) of the several articles in this Catalogue is an arbritrary one made by us for the purpose of enabling customers to be precise in ordering. Our numbering does not agree with that adopted by other dealers, and appearing in other catalogues and lists.

To prevent mistakes, our customers are, therefore, requested to mention expressly: Steiger's Kindergarten Material, and then state Quantity desired, No., Name of article, and the Price quoted in this Catalogue (for instance: 10 No. 21, Third Gift @ $0.20.)

Such care in making out orders will prove advantageous to customers.

These Boxes are primarily intended for children who are unable to attend a Kindergarten regularly, and also as a substitute for toys and playthings generally. Stated more precisely, however, their design is, to provide children of 3 years and over with instructive and quiet amusement, and to quicken their intellect without wearying the brain — to inculcate manual skill, artistic taste, a ready appreciation of results, and, consequently, a love of learning and application — to train children's minds through apparent play and recreation, while they are the means of producing little presents — to prepare children for school, and render home instruction easy and entertaining, without requiring constant attention.

Now for sale, the Third Edition of the most valuable pedagogical work,

THE CYCLOPÆDIA OF EDUCATION:

A Dictionary of Information for the use of Teachers, School Officers, Parents, and Others. Edited by HENRY KIDDLE and A. J. SCHEM.

This important work has secured an acknowledged position as the one standard educational authority in the English language. The simple fact that this is the first — and was, until the appearance of the Dictionary of Education and Instruction, the only — publication of its kind in English literature, sufficiently indicates the difficulty of its preparation. It is due to the fortunate association of the editors, Mr. Henry Kiddle and Prof. Alex. J. Schem, who were preeminently fitted for this work, and regarded it truly as a labor of love, that this Cyclopædia at once gained universal recognition here and in all other countries. Each year has served to give the Cyclopædia still greater prominence and to strengthen the position it has attained.

Agreeing with the recommendations of State and City Superintendents of Schools, and other practical educators, and of educational and literary journals, both in America and Europe, the Cyclopædia of Education has been recommended as the very first in a List of "Ten Books for Teachers" which List was formed by a selection from more than 200 works.

The Cyclopædia of Education is issued in one large octavo volume of about 900 pages, in the styles and at the prices which follow, viz.: in Paper Cover, uncut edges $4.00 (also in 4 divisions at $1.00 each); bound in Cloth $5.00 — and uniform with Appleton's American Cyclopædia, in Library Leather $6.00; in Half Morocco $7.00; in Half Russia, extra gilt $8.00; in Full Morocco, or Russia, with gilt edges $10.00.

Now for sale also the Third Edition of

THE DICTIONARY OF EDUCATION AND INSTRUCTION:

A Reference Book and Manual on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, for the use of Parents, Teachers, and Others; Based upon the CYCLOPÆDIA OF EDUCATION.

By HENRY KIDDLE and A. J. SCHEM.

The special objects designed to be attained by the publication of the Dictionary (first issued in 1881) are: (1) to supply a brief compendium of the theory and practice of education in a series of clear and definite articles, alphabetically arranged so as to be easily referred to, or systematically studied; (2) to encourage in this way the study by teachers of the principles and practice of their profession, thus giving to the work of education a greater degree of intelligence and efficiency; (3) to afford a convenient class manual of pedagogy for use in normal schools and teachers' institutes as the basis of a course of instruction in principles and methods, not necessarily superseding other valuable manuals differently arranged, but accompanying and strengthening them; (4) to supply, at a small cost, to every teacher that portion of the Cyclopædia which is of especial value in practical education, reserving this larger work for occasional reference, particularly when information regarding educational history, biography, and statistics is needed; and (5) to supply a useful hand-book to parents in the home education of their children.

The Dictionary of Education and Instruction contains articles on the following, viz.:

Age in Education — Algebra — Alphabet Method — Grammatical Analysis — Analytic Method of Teaching — Arithmetic — Astronomy — Attention — Authority — Botany — Calisthenics — Discernment of Character — Class — Color — Composition — Conception — Concert Teaching — Culture of Conscience — Conversational Method — Course of Instruction — Culture — Developing Method — Didactics — Discipline — Drawing — Cultivation of the Ear — Education — Theory of Education — Empirical Methods — Emulation — Study of English — English Literature — Esthetic Culture — Cultivation of the Eye — Form — Geography — Geometry — School Government — English Grammar — Harmony in Development — History — Home Education — Home Lessons — School Hygiene — Culture of Imagination — Instruction — Intellectual Education — Training of Judgment — Kindergarten — Language — Lectures — Mathematics — Memory — Moral Education — Normal School — Number — Object Teaching — Oral Instruction — Orthography — Phonetics — Physical Education — Psychology — Punishment — Reading — Recitation — Religious Education — Rhetoric — Rote Teaching — School Furniture — School Management — School Records — The Teaching of Science — Self Education — The Education of the Senses — Normal Schools, or Teacher's Seminaries — Singing — Social Economy — Text-Books — Ventilation — Culture of the Voice — Word Method — Analysis of Words — Zoölogy, etc.; also shorter notices or mention of many others, and — as an Appendix — a valuable List of Educational Works for professional study and reference prepared especially for the Dictionary by W. H. Payne, Professor of the Science and the Art of Teaching in the University of Michigan.

This book is a volume of 332 pp. 12mo., bound in Cloth, and sells at the low price of $1.50.

The Paper Cover Edition of the Dictionary of Education and Instruction contains the whole of this work except the Appendix (Prof. Payne's List of Educational Works), 298 pp. carefully sewed and done up in paper cover. Price only $0.75, upon receipt of which (in Postage Stamps, etc.) copies will be forwarded to any address.

☞ At this extremely low price the Dictionary comes within easy reach not only of all teachers, but also of parents and young people of progressive inclination.

a) English.

A. Douai's Series of Rational Readers, combining the Principles of Pestalozzi's and Frœbel's Systems of Education. — With a systematic classification of English words, by which their Pronunciation, Orthography, and Etymology may be readily taught without the use of any new signs.

II. The Rational First Reader. For Phonetic and Elocutional Instruction. Boards, $0.30

II. The Rational Second Reader. For Phonetic, Elocutional, Etymological, and Grammatical Instruction. Boards, $0.50

V. A Reform of the Common English Branches of Instruction. Manual introductory to, and explanatory of, the Series of Rational Readers. Boards, $0.30

Into this Series of Readers is introduced the rational or developing system of instruction, as praticed in the best Swiss and German schools. This being the first time that such a plan has been adopted in any work professing to teach the Elements of the English language, the author has bestowed upon his production the distinguishing title of Rational Readers. By a frequent intermixture of notes for the teacher with the spelling and reading exercises, it is hoped that the design is so clearly presented that those teachers even who have not had a previous opportunity of thoroughly studying it, may be enabled at once to comprehend it in all its details, and to use these books with pleasure and success.

☞ Thorough Study of Latin made easy. ☜

Most Latin grammars now in use task the beginner with a mass of grammatical detail which is worse than useless, a bar to progress all the more irritating because unnecessary. Hence the wide-spread demand for a grammar that contains everything of importance for all learners, including those who contemplate a collegiate course of study, while it studiously omits matters of disputed usage, the study of which will offer no difficulty whatever to the college-student, to whom they properly belong.

Ahn-Henn's Latin Grammar, and the other books of this Latin Series are the realization of this view, and particular attention is invited to the following distinctive features:

1. The best Orthography is exhibited; Quantity is marked throughout, besides Syllabification and Accent in paradigms.

2. Etymology is carefully treated. Without being cumbersome, this Course is believed to be more full and complete, especially in the illustrative examples in Declension and Conjugation, than any other Latin grammar now in use. On these points a comparison will show how simple, practical and clear it is.

3. The Derivative Endings (Word-formation) are thoroughly illustrated and classified.

4. Syntax is logically treated in every part. Though brief, it is very comprehensive and so clear in its statements that this subject, generaly considered so difficult, is easily understood. The construction of Prepositions, commonly left to the Dictionary, receives here, for the first time, the attention that is its due in a school grammar.

5. The clear and compendious description of the Metres, and especially the full Alphabetical Index of Subjects are very important.

6. The usefulness of these books is increased by judicious typographical arrangement.

Ahn-Henn's Latin Courses furnish an excellent preparation for any of the Latin grammars used at College, the difficulties in which will be mastered all the better when the groundwork has been securely learned from any of the Ahn-Henn Courses.

Even for Colleges, where a six years' course of Latin is pursued Ahn's First, Second and Third Latin Books have been adopted as the best books for elementary instruction, and recently the Complete Latin Syntax and its companion volume, the Manual of Latin Prose Composition have been prepared for use in the highest classes, so that now the Ahn-Henn Latin Course fully meets all the requirements of easy yet full and thorough study of Latin.

On the other hand the Short Latin Course (which contains Grammar, Exercises for double translation, and Reading Lessons together with vocabularies, all in one small volume) has been prepared for use in schools where Latin can be studied only for one or two years.

Particular attention is invited to the Wall Charts and the Vocabulary which are unique, and may be used advantageously also in connection with any other Latin Course. The First, Second and Third Latin Books offer an abundance of Exercises for double translation, of which the teacher may use all, or a portion only, as his judgment or other circumstances may dictate. The Vocabularies in these three books contain every Latin and English world occurring in the exercises. The Readers furnish the best classic Latin.

The books are printed in large, clear type, and issued in superior style at low prices. Favorable terms for introduction. Specimen copies sent to teachers upon receipt of half the advertised price.

HE, SHE, IT.

Egyptian court chronicle, B. C. 1302; a veracious and truthful version preserved and transcribed for general use by the peerless poet-laureate of his late majesty, Rhampsinnit, designed by C. M. Seyppel, . $2.50

"The whole affair is a joke on the lovers of pre-historic literature, and is especially pointed at the Shapira forgeries. The drawings in black and white copy most effectively the stiff and unnatural attitudes of the human figures found on Egyptian hieroglyphic slabs. They tell with the verses in a most laughable way a story of modern life. Even a careful examination of the work would deceive, it looks so exactly like a dug-up treasure. The leaves are an imitation of papyrus, and are musty-looking and stained, the edges being ragged and worn; the cover is of sack-cloth, held together by leather-thong clasps, and impressed with a huge green seal."—Publisher's Weekly.

An Operetta in Profile

By CZEIKA. 1 vol. 16mo. 1 00

Some years since, the author was one of the most popular magazine writers; but long residence abroad, and other circumstances compelled him, for a time, to abandon writing. He now comes forward with this remarkable production which is sure to command wide attention. It is forcible, terse, satirical. It deals with social follies, is bright and fascinating. It will at once impress the reader as the work of a writer of great intellectual power.

Three Good Giants

From the French of François Rabelais. By JOHN DIMITRY. 1 vol. Square 12mo. With 175 illustrations by Gustave Doré and A. Robida. 1.50

The peculiarities that have hitherto rendered Rabelais a sealed book for the young, have been wholly eliminated in this work, but with so much skill as not to impair the continuity of the story. It will take its place at once beside the Arabian Nights and Gulliver's Travels — which both require similar editing — and will serve a good purpose in disarming much unreasoning prejudice against Rabelais, while opening to the delighted eyes of the young the true stories of Grandgousier, Gargantua and Pantagruel, the quaintest and most original of giants, and of Panurge, the funniest of jokers The illustrations by Doré and Robida are a delight and wonder in themselves.

BEAUTIFUL HOLIDAY BOOKS.

GERALDINE.

A tale of the St. Lawrence. 1 vol. 8vo. Beautifully illustrated, full gilt. 3.50
In antique morocco, tree, or flexible calf 7.50

The extraordinary popularity of Geraldine, the extreme interest and delicacy of the love story it enshrines, and the vivid and accurate pictures of scenery of the Great Lakes, the Thousand Islands, the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers, etc., have indicated the book as especially appropriate for illustration. The scenes depicted in the poem have been drawn from nature by a special artist, who visited them for that purpose, and followed the routes of Trent and his friends. The other illustrations are by the best American artists, and the whole, in beautiful and appropriate binding, forms one of the best and most popular and attractive gifts or keep-sakes for the holiday season, or for any other.

THE POETICAL WORKS OF SIR WALTER SCOTT.

Revised, corrected and edited, with notes and commentaries, by WM. J. ROLFE, editor of the "Students' Series of Classic Poems," "Students' Shakespeare," etc.

1 vol. 8vo. With 350 illustrations. Bevelled boards. Full gilt $10.00
Half Calf. 13.00
Tree Calf or Antique Morocco 10.00

All existing editions of Sir Walter Scott's poetry or single poems, except those issued by Ticknor & Co., are disfigured and rendered untrustworthy throughout by gross and numerous errors and misprints. Mr. W. J. Rolfe, the accomplished editor of the "Students' Series of Poetry" and of Shakespeare, has undertaken the herculean task of editing and restoring the correct and original text, and of producing in one volume

The First and Only Correct Edition

in England or America of Scott's Poems. The edition will contain full notes and appendices with preface and comments by Mr. Rolfe. It also contains all the original illustrations made for the separate poems at a cost of upwards of besides many others especially added for this work, nearly three hundred and fifty in all.

The popularity of Scott's poetry, the unique position of this edition for scholarship and accuracy, and the number, variety and excellence of the illustrations combine to assure for this book immediate popularity and a permanent standing.

THE SWANEE RIVER.

BY

STEPHEN COLLINS FOSTER.

Beautifully illustrated. Each in one vol. 4to. full gilt. Cloth 1.50
Tree Calf, Padded Calf, Flexible Calf or Seal . . . . . .

No one like Stephen Foster has ever had the power to reach and touch every heart. He united to simple words, usually in dialect, music of a peculiar pathos and tenderness that appealed to all men, which has won for him a unique and special place not granted to the work of other composers. Millions of these, his best two songs, have been circulated; but never before has the artist's pencil been enlisted to adorn the ballads that have pleased and softened so many hearts. The drawings have been made and engraved by the best artists, with the utmost care and will be found apt and worthy illustrations of these tender and beautiful songs.

The publisher presents "OUR HOME PHYSICIAN," with the assurance that it is the most important and valuable Medical Guide ever offered to the American public. To this admirable work our well-known authors have given careful study, investigation and experience. We quote from Dr. Beard's preface:

"This book has been prepared to meet a want that has been long and widely felt—of a single work which should give a comprehensive and accurate knowledge of Medical Science of the present day, in as much detail as can be useful to those not medically educated. I have written in this work just what I say every day to my patients, in my popular essays, and in my lectures before lyceums and colleges. I have here said just what your family physician would tell you if he had the time and occasion to explain the different diseases, their symptoms and treatment. My aim has been to make the work so clear that the wayfaring man might not err therein, and yet so thorough and exhaustive that the educated physician should find in it much to perfect his knowledge and refresh his memory."

By DR. G. H. FOX, Clinical Professor Diseases of the Skin, College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y.

This ATLAS OF SKIN DISEASES is the labor of years, and in its preparation the author has not only selected from thousands of cases under his charge in the New York Dispensary, but has had access to the Bellevue and Charity Hospital collection of several thousand negatives, taken from patients in various hospitals and private practice.

This series of plates are produced by the Artotype process, which not only possess the sharpness of detail, and brilliancy of photographs, but, unlike the latter, will not fade through age or exposure to light. They are carefully colored by hand and more accurately represent disease than any lithographs or colored photographs which have ever been offered to the profession. 100 pages of Text, with treatment, accompany the plates.

SEXUAL NEURASTHENIA

[Nervous Exhaustion.]

ITS HYGIENE, CAUSES, SYMPTOMS AND TREATMENT,

WITH A CHAPTER ON

Diet for the Nervous,

By GEORGE M. BEARD, A.M., M.D.,

Formerly Lecturer on Nervous Diseases in the University of the City of New York; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine; Member of the American Medical Association; Author of "Our Home Physician," "Hay Fever," "Stimulants and Narcotics," one of the Authors of "Medical and Surgical Electricity," etc.

[POSTHUMOUS MANUSCRIPT.]

EDITED BY A. D. ROCKWELL, A.M., M.D.,

Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine; of the American Neurological Society, and Electro-Therapeutist to the N. Y. State Woman's Hospital. One of the Authors of "Medical and Surgical Electricity," etc.

The philosophy of this work is based on the theory that there is a special and very important and very frequent clinical variety of neurasthenia (nervous exhaustion) to which the term sexual neurasthenia (sexual exhaustion) may properly be applied.

While this variety may be and often is involved as cause or effect or coincident with other varieties—exhaustion of the brain, of the spine, of the stomach and digestive system—yet in its full development it can be and should be differentiated from hysteria, simple hypochondria, insanity, and various organic diseases of the nervous system, with all of which it had until lately been confounded.

The long familiar local conditions of genital debility in the male—impotence and spermatorrhœa, prostatorrhœa, irritable prostate—which have hitherto been almost universally described as diseases by themselves, are philosophically and clinically analyzed. These symptoms, as such do not usually exist alone, but are associated sooner or later with other local or general symptoms of sexual neurasthenia herein described.

The causes of sexual neurasthenia are not single or simple, but complex; evil habits, excesses, tobacco, alcohol, worry and special excitements, even climate itself, are the great predisposing causes.

The subject is restricted mainly to sexual exhaustion as it exists in the male, for the reason that the symptoms of neurasthenia, as it exists in females, are, and for a long time have been, understood and recognized. Cases analogous to those in females, are dismissed as hypochondriacs, just as females suffering from now clearly explained uterine and ovarian disorders were formerly dismissed as hysterics.

This view of the relation of the reproductive system to nervous diseases is in accordance with facts that are verifiable and abundant; that in men as in women, a large group of nervous symptoms, which are very common indeed, would not exist but for morbid states of the reproductive system.

The forty three cases described in this work are variously diagnosticated, according to the previous notions, education, temperament, age, and the consideration the physician may have given to the case.

The treatment, like its causes, is complex—a union of local and general medication, of mental therapeutics and hygiene, the improvement of nutrition, and not by any specific drug or prescription.—[From Dr. Beard's Introduction.

JOURNEYINGS IN THE OLD WORLD.

Or, Europe, Palestine, and Egypt. Embracing Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Syria, the Holy Land, and Egypt, together with many cities and other places renowned in sacred and profane history, with the results of the latest explorations in Bible lands. Richly illustrated with maps and more than 100 engravings. By Rev. James W. Hott, D. D., editor of the Religious Telescope; with an introduction by Rev. Benj. St. James Fry, D. D., editor of the Central Christian Advocate, St. Louis. Sold only by subscription. Send for terms, territory, etc.

"I have not been trying to read the book, but really I can not keep from reading it. It helps me to see things which I could not understand before. I have read many books on the Holy Land, and the best I could secure. My studies as a teacher have necessarily enlisted me greatly in such books, and yet this one is clearer than any book I have read on the Holy Land. What is remarkable in my home is the fact that my family did not allow it to be taken to my study, there to remain. But they all read it with like interest."—Dr. L. Davis, Union Biblical Seminary.

"A large portion of the volume is given to Palestine and the adjacent countries, and this constitutes its chief excellence. With a heart in full sympathy with the characters and incidents of Old and New Testament history, Dr. Hott so vividly presents the places and the manners and the customs of the people of Palestine as to shed a strong light on the sacred pages. * * * * In these days when so much insidious poison is distilled in books it is refreshing to read one like this, pervaded by a pure Christian atmosphere, and to feel wiser and better for its perusal."—Robert W. Steele, Dayton, Ohio.

"I have looked over the pages of "Journeyings in the Old World," by Rev. Dr. Hott, with great pleasure. He has combined in one volume a large amount of information and entertainment, which will make it of value to numerous readers. I can testify from personal observation and experience to the accuracy of his description of European and oriental scenes. It is evident that he has been an acute and careful traveler, and has added to his own information the fruits of diligent and earnest research. There is through all a serious and devout spirit which will command the book to Christian readers and make it profitable in the family, while it is also spirited and vivacious. I heartily commend it to generous notice and patronage."—Rev. F. Colby, D. D., Pastor First Baptist Church, Dayton, Ohio.

New Edition.

(1887.)

A new edition of this popular book has just been prepared with valuable new features. In the present edition many improvements have been made in the letter press, and a number of the illustrations and maps have been finely colored, thus adding much to the attractiveness of the book, and making it a marvel of beauty.

There has also been added a complete Scripture index—a new and valuable feature which is not found in any other book of this kind. About five hundred passages of Scripture, illustrating manners and customs of Bible times, are cited in the index. This enables preachers, Sunday-school teachers, Bible students, and general readers to put their hands at once on a living commentary upon these most interesting passages of the Bible.

"We congratulate the author of this work upon the successful completion of his difficult task, as represented in this neat and attractive volume. The story of his life is full of interest, and well calculated to provoke unto love and good works."—Evangelical Messenger.

"The Power of the Invisible, and Other Lectures and Addresses, is not described by its title, which rather conceals the simple earnestness and practical importance of the addresses. The subject to which most of them relate is some form or part of the Church's educative work, which is treated in a very serious, gentle, thoughtful, and fresh way. The book deserves to be read, and can not fail to do good."—The Independent, New York.

PREACHER AND HIS SERMON, The; A Treatise on Homiletics. By Rev. John W. Etter, D. D. 581 pages, 8vo., cloth..... 2 25

"The Rev. John W. Etter, D. D., has written an excellent work. The plan is well conceived, and the treatment strong and judicious. The style is good, occasionally familiar, and illustrative anecdotes are not wanting. Its suggestions are those of common sense, while the book also shows that the author is familiar with the best authorities on the subject."—The Christian Advocate, New York.

"It is more extensive in its range of topics than most books of its class. In addition to the discussion of the Homiletics proper, it gives careful consideration to the qualifications of the preacher, including his general and special preparation for his work; to preaching to children, revival sermons, out-door preaching, funeral sermons, lay preaching, and Bible-readings. In this range of topics, methodical arrangement, and treatment of subjects, it will be found fully up to the demands of the times."—Methodist Recorder.

"It makes a specialty of discussing such sub-topics—now rapidly assuming primary importance in the work of the ministry of all denominations—as preaching to children, Bible-readings, etc. Other homiletical writers allude to them, but Mr. Etter discusses them as weighty, not to say essential features of his subject. He also has useful chapters on devotional exercises in the pulpit, and on prayer-meeting addresses, lay-preaching, etc. His suggestions on all these points are eminently wise and practical."—The Congregationalist.

"The arrangement is methodical, yet natural and simple, and it will be serviceable to students, ministers, and laymen. It is the most suitable text-book that has yet appeared."—Rev. G. A. Funkhouser, D. D., Union . iblical Seminary.

SENECA AND KANT; or, An Exposition of the Stoic and Rationalistic Ethics, with a Comparison and Criticism of the two Systems. By Rev. W. T. Jackson, Ph. D. 12mo., 100 pages..... 75

"The book is the result of long and careful study, and, as the author has endeavored either to remove or to explain the technicalities of philosophy, it may be read with great interest and profit, even by those who have never pursued philosophical studies. It is especially valuable to the minister and student as a key to greatly misunderstood doctrines, and as containing in small compass 'what would cost him days of research to gain.'"

"The work is an able and strong one—one that in these days of discussions of great and grave questions, will be found useful to professional men who are called upon to meet or consider them, and to all others who wish to have an intelligent knowledge of the fields, the progress, the characteristics, and the fruits of ancient and modern ethical thought."—The Interior.

Bridal Days.

By D. Henry Miller, D. D., and W. D. Hedden, D. D. It is appropriate as a gift book for the Bridal Day, and for all the wedding anniversaries to follow. It beautifully illustrates the gifts of the Iron, Wood, Tin, Crystal, Linen, Silver, Golden, and Diamond Wedding Days. The book contains eight elegant embellishments.

1 vol., 4to, 170 pp. Heavy toned paper, bound in cloth, with a neat stamp on side and back in silver and gold. Put up in a neat box. Price 2 50

"A book gotten up with elegant taste, and arranged so fittingly for such occasions, and with a delicacy and chasteness, that no gift could be more appropriate. The form of presentation as a wedding gift, or in commemoration of anniversary occasions, is worded in fine taste, beginning with marriage and all subsequent wedding anniversaries, to the golden era, or golden wedding anniversary. This arrangement makes the book a suitable one for every period usually commemorated after marriage —the iron age, one year, to 50 years, the golden era. The artistic and beautiful embellishments begin with representing marriage, the iron age, wooden ware, utensils of tin, crystal offerings, the linen gifts, silver memorials, and the golden bridal day. The selections of prose and poetry, the creations of the best authors, represent these periods in married life, and in such fine taste as to be worthy of being classed as a souvenir. The heavy plate paper, clear bright letter text, illustrations and binding, make it a gem in bookmaking."—Christian Advocate.

Caleb Carthew.

A new story from the pen of Silas K. Hocking. Author of "Her Benny," &c.
1 vol. 12mo. $1 50

"One of the successful children's story-writers of England is the Rev. Silas K. Hocking, and on this side of the Atlantic his stories are not unknown."—S. S. Times

"The scene is laid in Brunhill, Lancashire; a seemingly unimportant incident opens the story and really proves the turning-point in Caleb Carthew's life, as it caused him to be expelled from school, brought about the Damon and Pythias friendship between himself and Frank Preston, and finally was the cause of David's becoming a carpenter's apprentice. From this time Frank tells the story which comprises the eventful things in Caleb's career, some interesting things in his own history, their joint romances, and the sad love affair of Kate Carthew."—Publishers' Weekly.

"This is a fitting companion to the author's previous volume, 'Present Lessons from Distant Days.' That took us into the Old Testament, and from the life of Abraham brought instruction needful in these later times. This takes us into the New Testament, and from the Epistle to the Philippians, following its teachings in course, shows the practical bearing of its lessons upon daily life in our own day. It is to us an admirable illustration of the wonderful suggestiveness of Scripture, and also of the freshness and interest which one who has the homiletic faculty can give to such a study of one of Paul's epistles. No one can read it and not have new rays of instruction thrown upon daily life. It will awaken, too, we believe, new interest in this inspired and inspiring epistle."—Zion's Advocate.

"It is for the hour of meditation, when the heart struggles with itself for light and comfort. The style is so unaffected, so simple, that one immediately understands that the author is a man who sits down alone now and then, and meditates secretly on divine things. He is communing with God in his soul. He is cultivating the inner life by pleasant thoughts of God's goodness. Those little chapters of one or two pages will make a good lesson for each day."—Central Baptist.

Being beaten one day by a cruel father, they run away from home. They are often near starvation, and Benny is once tempted to steal to get bread for his sister. Though Benny's heart is most broken by poor Nelly's death, he lives to be a good and successful man, helped to better days by a charming, sympathetic girl, whom he finally marries.

His Opportunity.

A story of American life. By Henry C. Pearson. This story of the social, and religious life, as it is to-day, is likely to rank among the best of the year, for the skill of the plot, the vigor of its style, the suggestiveness of its lessons and the charm and brightness of its movement. The author, a few years ago a mill superintendent, has now been in literature for some years, and his many stories and papers in magazines and periodicals have made him widely known. Out of his practical contact with life among the high and the low, in church, society and business, he has gained a personal knowledge of great service to him in working up this remarkable story, which touches in the course of its plot and incident the problems that beset thoughtful minds as to the duties of the rich, the improvement of the masses, and the saving of our communities from the evils of intemperence.

"Teachers are often in want of some little book of poetic selections for the use of smaller children. To supply this want, Mrs. O. Augusta Cheney has collected a number of pieces suitable to Sunday-school concerts, festivals, day schools, temperance and juvenile entertainments. Many of these selections have appeared in the serials on which the child of to-day is fattened. Some are clever, others are amusing, and nearly all will be entertaining to children. A number of short pieces are inserted for the use of little ones who cannot learn those of great length, and no pieces are included which are too difficult to be rendered acceptably by children of ten years."—Christian Register.

"I have read with true interest, and at one sitting, 'Margaret,' by Lyndon. The author is to be congratulated on having launched so happy an adventure in her first literary voyaging. It shows, I think, great felicity and delicacy in the observation and portrayal of character, and it sustains an unflagging interest in the reader. Its 'Margaret' is a noble personation, and its 'Chloe,' though akin to Topsy, has a genial, whimsical originality quite her own."—Wm. R. Williams, D.D., New York City.

Present Lessons from Distant Days.

Studies in the Life of Abraham. By Wayland Hoyt, D.D. 1 vol., 18mo, cloth, flex., red edges..... 60

"Readers of the Christian Union are familiar with the helpful and delightful qualities of Dr. Hoyt's writing. This little volume is an admirable illustration of their excellence and value. It retells the marvellous story of Abraham's life with that spiritual insight which discovers in his individual experiences lessons of universal significance, and so reveals the career of the patriarch as the type of the common life of humanity. Such books as this, strong in the grasp of the common facts of life, clear in their insight into the immortal import of the transient and commonplace, make clear to us the oneness of human experience and the ever-present guidance of the Divine Helper, in obedience to whose call Abraham went forth into a strange country to become the typical pilgrim in the journey heavenward. The book is full of human interest, and makes its lessons from distant days vivid and real by a setting of contemporaneous circumstances. Altogether, we lay it down with a feeling of gratitude for the stimulus and refreshment which its pages abundantly afford the thoughtful reader."—Christian Union.

"In this excellent romance there is running through it, like a golden thread, a lesson that religious training is the surest way to enjoy life in this world and as God designed, and also a preparation for the future. It is just the kind of book that parents can safely place in the hands of their children. Baron Edelbert was a brave German Knight, and his family were devout in their service to God, and faithful to their sovereign. But the heroine is Rosa Von Tannenburg, their charming daughter, who grew up and became beautiful in mind and person; and when adversity overtook her honored father and he was banished, through her indefatigable efforts he was restored to his family, and honored more than ever."—Christian Advocate.

Story of a Story (The).

By Margaret F. Lee. 1 vol., 12mo, ... 1 25

"In this delightful story we have pictured most graphically the heroic conduct of a family who had been overtaken with adversity, which required them to step down from a life of affluence, ease, and comfort to humbler walks in life. Theo and Constance Templeton, the two oldest, determined to seek a qualification for relieving and helping their parents, and ere long they acquired many graces of mind and housekeeping experience, which they turned to practical use, and soon better days were enjoyed temporarily, though the social home life of the family had been sweet and happy all the time. 'Theo,' the central character, soon turned her fine, cultivated mind to teaching, and then united authorship, and was successful in both, and so adversity soon disappeared. Throughout the power of the Gospel was seen in the family, in the course of these young heroines; the reading of this pure story will prove a source of pleasure as well as a blessing."—Christian Advocate.

It is an Etymological dictionary, giving Derivation and meaning of all root words. It is Illustrated, contains tables of pronunciation of Classical, Geographical, and Scriptural names, and for scholastic and home use is undoubtedly the handiest dictionary extant. In large crown 8vo, 832 pages, cloth.....1.50

 The Phonetic Method, so far as is possible, is used in explaining the pronunciation. This means spelling the words in accordance with their sound in speaking. The ordinary orthoepic method is difficult to remember, hence most people have to look, first for the word, then for the orthoepic sign, and then for the key to the sign. Mr. Nuttall's method covers all, for with a single inspection one sees at a glance the way a word is spoken and what it means.—Book Notes.

"It is the most delightful of all games" (Whist not excepted) "and some of the odd and peculiar SKAT-terms are certain to become household words with us," as a very amusing article on SKAT in the N. Y. Times of March 27, 1887, predicts which goes on to say: "SKAT is so inherently interesting that it can be played 'for love' or a very small stake.—Not to know SKAT is to be ignorant of the only game—the einziges."

The second edition of Mr. Lemcke's book on SKAT, the German Game of Cards, is for more than two-thirds an entirely new book and expected to be interesting reading even for those who may not care for the game as such. The chapters on German Cards with illustrations, Skat in German social life, Reuter's Low-German Card-party, the Glossary of the quaint German Skat terms, treat of matter not before discussed in English books. We reprint on this sheet the 29th page, cuts of a pack of German Skat cards, and extract from some reviews of the book the following:

Buffalo Courier:....a quaint little book in which the author does much more than explain the rules for playing the game. One chapter on "Skat in German social life," for instance, discourses learnedly on the German idea of the observation of Sunday.

N. Y. Nation and Evening Post:—Mr. Ernst E. Lemcke's 'Skat' has met with such success as to warrant a second edition. ....A literary interest is imparted to the contents by a translation from Fritz Reuter's 'Ut mine Stromtid,' describing a Low-German card party (from which a quotation follows).

Puck:—The Germans play a game called "Skat" with cards. The Americans play it with a boot-jack.

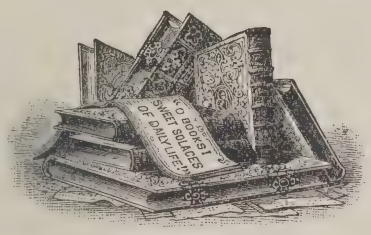
Commercial Advertiser:—The man who contributes a new game to the race is a public benefactor and hardly less so one who introduces a foreign or unfamiliar one.... The volume is very simply and intelligibly devised.

The London Saturday Review, in a very exhaustive full-page review, says among other things: The very type in which the little volume is printed is American, and, for that matter, highly to be commended for its sharpness and clearness of impression.. Those in search of something new, will undoubtedly find plenty of variety and sufficient exercise for their memory and judgment in the study and practice of this new game.... Mr. Lemcke may be justified in claiming that Skat is as many-sided and full of surprises as any gambling game, and yet is not by any means one itself, but promotes sociability even when played by sedate people.... The digression on German cards is not without interest as calling our attention to the variety which foreigners have introduced into the manner of representing the face-value of cards.

The Scotsman, Edinburgh:—Tourists in Germany have often been struck by the queer aspect of their playing cards and concluded, superficially observing them, that they use acorns for clubs, green leaves where we have spades and bells instead of diamonds.... But the difference lies deeper, the cards specially known as German cards being prepared for use in the specially German game Skat, concerning which Mr. Lemcke has explained in the little work all that is necessary to make it intelligible and much that goes to make it interesting and entertaining.

The Open Court:—The game possesses much fascination and the author of this Grammar treats the subject so ingeniously that even non-players, as the writer knows from his own experience, must grow interested.

The Stationery Trade Journal, (London):—Skat threatens to supersede Whist in the estimation of players and is said to fascinate its votaries more completely than any other game yet invented.



N. Y. Sun:—Americans have in this little volume an excellent manual of instruction.

Anzeiger des Westens:—The World's Game, where is the good German that does not know it? grown on German soil, ingenious, presupposing and fostering intelligence and mind-culture, honest and full of humor.

PICTURE LESSONS FOR EVERY SUNDAY,

—AND—

THE TEACHERS' ASSISTANT,

EDITED BY REV. GEO. W. SHINN, D.D.

COMBINED CIRCULATION, ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES.

THE advantages we claim for these lesson leaves are: 1. Beauty of typography—they are attractive to children and easy to study. 2. Cheapness—being only $12.00 per hundred for a year; you can subscribe for any number at this rate for any time. 3. They give all needed explanation of the hard parts of the lesson. 4. They suggest points for remarks by teachers and clergymen in reviewing the lesson. The first-named can be used by teachers' classes and by advanced Bible classes, as well as by the middle grades of the Sunday-School, while the picture lessons are especially adapted to the needs of primary classes and the infant school.

Clergymen and Sunday-School workers are particularly invited to examine a few numbers of the LESSON LEAFLET and ASSISTANT, which will be mailed free on application.

Terms for either Leaflet, 12c. per Copy for One Year (52 Lessons).

Each four Lessons issued together. Those who wish can have them sent cut apart.

With illustrations.....12mo, russet cloth, 1 50

"Mr. Platt has worked out an idea so striking for its attractiveness and utility that, perceiving it, we at once go to work wondering that somebody else had not executed it before him. He has gone over the vast and superb areas of John Ruskin's Writings, and cutting out one block here and another there, as it suited his purpose, has put all these parts together again into a literary mosaic, constituting a clear and harmonious system of art principles, wherein Ruskin all the while is the teacher. He has reduced Ruskin to a code. On the whole, we see not what this book lacks of being a complete text-book of the Gospel of Art according to St. John Ruskin."—Christian Union.

WOOD, DE VOLSON. A TREATISE ON THE RESISTANCE OF MATERIALS, AND AN APPENDIX ON THE PRESERVATION OF TIMBER. Third edition, thoroughly revised....8vo, cloth, 2 00

This work consists chiefly of the Lectures delivered by Professor Wood upon this subject to the classes in Civil Engineering in the University of Michigan. It is a text-book upon the subject, and gives a brief sketch of the history of the development of the theories connected with the growth of the subject, and a large amount of experimental matter. Much of the analysis in regard to the changes of form resulting from stresses within the elastic limit involves the Calculus. An English reviewer of the work says; "It is equal in grade to Rankine's work."

WOOD, DE VOLSON. A TREATISE ON THE THEORY OF THE CONSTRUCTION OF BRIDGES AND ROOFS. Designed as a Text-Book and for Practical Use. Illustrated with numerous wood engravings. Second edition, revised and corrected, 1876. 8vo, cloth, 2 00

This work treats of all the well-known forms of Bridges, and several forms of Roofs. The analysis is generally of a simple kind, the essential parts of the work requiring only a knowledge of Algebra and Trigonometry. The examples are original and many of them novel in character. The latter part of the work develops the general mode of investigation by means of the general equations of statics.

WOOD, DE VOLSON. THE ELEMENTS OF ANALYTICAL MECHANICS. With numerous examples and illustrations. For use in Scientific Schools and Colleges. New edition, revised and enlarged, comprising Mechanics of Solids and Mechanics of Fluids, of which Mechanics of Fluids is entirely new. About 500 pages.....8vo, cloth, 3 00

The Calculus is freely used in this work. One of the chief objects sought to is teach the students how to use analytical methods. It contains many problems completely solved, and many others which are left as exercises for the student. The last chapter shows how to reduce all the equations of mechanics from the principle of D'Alembert.

—— THE MECHANICS OF FLUIDS. Being Supplement to the Analytical Mechanics, and sold separately to supply those who have the Mechanics of Solids .....8vo, cloth, 1 50

—— PRINCIPLES OF ELEMENTARY MECHANICS. Fully illustrated. Revised edition. 1882.....12mo, cloth, 1 25

This work is designed to give more attention to the fundamental principles of mechanics. Analysis is subordinated, and what is used is of a very elementary character. No Calculus is used nor any analysis of a high character, and yet many problems which are generally considered quite difficult are here solved in a very simple manner. The principles of Energy, which holds an important place in modern physics, is explained, and several problems solved by its use. Every chapter contains numerous problems and examples, the former of which are fully solved; but the latter, which are numerical, are unsolved, and are intended to familiarize the student with the principles, and test his ability to apply the subject practically. At the close of each chapter is a list of Exercises. These consist of questions of a general character, requiring no analysis in order to answer them, but simply a good knowledge of the subject. The mechanics of fluids forms an important part of the work.

HOLIDAY BOOKLETS—(Continued.)

The designs on the covers are far more beautiful and elaborate than any heretofore produced, and the prices at which they are sold make them available for all. The new ivory binding is original with these books, and far excels any other style of binding in beauty, is more durable and stronger than leather. If it becomes soiled it can be cleaned with a damp cloth without injury, a very desirable quality.

The London Times Says:

"Among the numerous handsome reprints which the publishers of the day vie with each other in producing, we have seen nothing of greater merit than this series of volumes. Those who have read these masterpieces of the last century in the homely garb of the old editions may be gratified with the opportunity of perusing them with the advantages of large clear print and illustrations of a quality which is rarely bestowed on such reissues. The series deserve every commendation."

WORTHINGTON'S NEW ARTISTIC JUVENILES

FOR THE SEASON OF 1887-8.

NEW BOOK BY MISS LATHBURY.

TWELVE TIMES ONE. By Miss M. A. Lathbury, artist-author of "Seven Little Maids," "Ring-a-Round-a-Rosy," etc., etc. Consisting of fac-simile water-color drawings, lithographed in the highest style of the art in 12 colors, with descriptive verses to each illustration. 4to, boards in exquisite covers of original design printed in colors and gold. $1 75

 This new book by Miss Lathbury, although on a larger scale, is a delightful companion to the author's ever-popular "Seven Little Maids." Every care has been taken to make the mechanical part of this work as perfect as the lithographic art can make it, and the exquisite work of Miss Lathbury has been faithfully copied to the most minute detail.

FROM MEADOW SWEET TO MISTLETOE. By Miss M. A Lathbury, artist-author of the "Seven Little Maids," "Ring-a-Round-a-Rosy," etc., etc. Consisting of 40 original designs printed in photogravure, from the original Sepia drawings; printed on extra size, heavy drawing paper, with illustrative verses by the author. Enclosed in a cover of unique design printed in colors and gold. 4to, boards. 2 50

——— Cloth, gilt. 3 75

 This beautiful volume is an entirely new departure from the books hitherto published for young people; and while it fascinates and interests the eye and mind of the young, it will have equal fascination for their elders in enjoying the artist-studies contained on every page. The seasons begins with the Meadow Sweet of Field and Garden, and goes on with appropriate illustrations and verses to the Season of the Mistletoe, and appropriately carries out the idea contained in the prefatory verses:

"And let good cheer run round the year,
From meadow sweet to mistletoe."

We believe this will prove to be the drawing-room juvenile presentation book of the year.

NEW BOOK IN WATER-COLORS. BY MRS. S. J. BRIGHAM.

UNDER BLUE SKIES. Verses and Pictures by Mrs. S. J. Brigham. Consisting of 48 original water-color and monotone illustrations of incidents of American child-life, accompanied by illustrative verses by the artist. In a charming double cover, printed in 10 colors and gold. 4to, boards. 2 00

 This entirely original book for young people will be found such a happy union of pictures and verses, that a fascination will be found on every page. The illustrations portray the every-day life of our little friends—their joys, play, and pastime, and some of their little sorrows—while the verses are in that easy-flowing jingle so much enjoyed by children.

NEW BOOK BY SUSAN E. AND GENERAL LEW WALLACE.

GINEVRA; or, the Tale of the Old Oak Chest. By Susan E. Wallace. Illustrated with 12 fine engravings from exquisite designs by General Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur." Beautifully printed and bound in a rich cover of original and appropriate design, printed in colors. 4to. boards. 1 25

 This handsome volume, delightfully written by Mrs. Wallace, proves by the exquisite illustrations that General Lew Wallace excels as an artist as well as an author.

NEW BOOK BY MISS SAGE.

CHRISTMAS ELVES, by Agnes C. Sage; or, The Doings of the Day Fairies. Beautifully printed and finely illustrated with numerous engravings by Mrs. Shepherd and other artists. Enclosed in a handsome cover of original design, beautifully printed in colors. 4to, boards. $1 25

 We expect this book will immediately receive public favor and have a very large sale. The stories are told with a certain naturalness that will give it a charm that is not very often found in the text of books for children.

RING-A-ROUND-A-ROSY; or Twelve Little Girls. By Mary A. Lathbury. Illustrated with 14 fac-simile water-color drawings, lithographed in the highest style of art, and 14 pages of delicate mono-tints, with descriptive verses. 4to, (twice the size of "Seven Little Maids") boards, in exquisite covers of chaste design, designed by the author, and bound in new style 2 00

——— The same in pretty board covers. 1 50

JACK IN THE PULPIT. By J. G. Whittier. A poem in the author's happiest vein. Printed in the very best style, on extra fine paper. With colored illustrations by Mary A. Lathbury. Bound in lithographic covers of most attractive design, with silk fringes. 1 75

——— cloth, gilt extra. 2 50

 The "Annual" for this year is a great improvement on the preceding vols. of this popular favorite, and will bear favorable comparison with any juvenile book published. It has kept up its record by giving entirely new engravings and the letter-press is entirely new, written by some of the most popular writers for the young, and the engraver and printer have lent their assistance to make this the most beautiful volume for the young published in America.

The Variorum Teacher's Bible,

ISSUED BY

Messrs. EYRE & SPOTTISWOODE (London), The Queen's Printers.

Anno DOMINI 31.

19 [x] Whosoever therefore shall break one of [15] these [15] least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called [16] the least [16] in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed [y] the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said [17] ‖ by them [17] of old time, [z] Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be [18] in danger of [18] the [19] judgment [19]:

22 But I say unto you, That [a] whosoever is angry with his brother β without a cause β shall be [18] in danger of [18] the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, ‖ [b] Raca, shall be [18] in danger of [18] the [20] council [20]: but whosoever shall say, [21] Thou fool [21], shall be [18] in danger of [18] [22] hell fire [22].

23 Therefore [c] if thou [23] bring [23] thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee;

24 [d] Leave there thy gift before the altar, and [24] go thy way; first [24] be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 [e] Agree with thine adversary quickly, [f] whiles thou art β [25] in the way with him [25] β; lest [26] at any time [26] the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge γ deliver thee γ to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

27 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said β by them of old time β, [g] Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever [h] looketh on a [27] woman [27] [28] to lust [28] after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 [i] And if thy right eye [29] ‖ offend thee [29], [k] pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into [30] hell [30].

30 And if thy right hand [29] offend thee [29], cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should β be cast into β [30] hell [30].

31 It hath been said, [l] Whosoever [31] shall [31] put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:

32 But I say unto you, That β [m] whosoever shall put away β his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, γ causeth her to commit adultery γ: δ and whosoever shall marry [32] her that is divorced [32] committeth adultery δ.

33 ¶ Again, ye have heard that [n] it hath been said [17] by them [17] of old time, [o] Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but [p] shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:

34 But I say unto you, [q] Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is [r] God's throne:

35 Nor by the earth; for it is his footstool: neither by Jerusalem; for it is [s] the city of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.

37 [t] But let your [33] communication [33] be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of [34] evil [34].

38 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, [u] An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth:

39 But I say unto you, [x] That ye resist not [35] evil [35]: [y] but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and [33] take away thy coat [36], let him have thy cloke also.

41 And whosoever [z] shall [37] compel thee to go [37] a mile, go with him twain.

42 Give to him that asketh thee, and [a] from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.

43 ¶ Ye have heard that it hath been said, [b] Thou shalt love thy neighbour, [c] and hate thine enemy.

44 But I say unto you, [d] Love your enemies, β bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you β, and pray [e] for them which γ despitefully use you, and γ persecute you;

45 That ye may be the [38] children [38] of your Father which is in heaven: for [f] he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.

46 [g] For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans β the same β?

47 And if ye [39] salute [39] your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even β the publicans so β?

48 [40 h] Be ye [40] therefore perfect, β even β [i] as your γ Father which is in heaven γ is perfect.

CHAPTER 6.

1 Christ continueth his sermon in the mount, speaking of alms, 5 prayer, 14 forgiving our brethren, 16 fasting, 19 where our treasure is to be laid up, 24 of serving God, and mammon: 25 exhorteth not to be careful for worldly things: 33 but to seek God's kingdom.

β TAKE heed β that ye do not your γ ‖ alms γ before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward ‖ of your Father which is in heaven.

2 Therefore [a] when thou doest thine alms, ‖ do not sound a trumpet before

WE COMMEND TO THE NOTICE OF RECTORS, SUNDAY-SCHOOL SUPERINTENDETS, AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN THE FORMATION OF S. S. LIBRARIES, THE FOLLOWING QUOTATION FROM AN ADDRESS BY

RIGHT REV. W. C. DOANE, S.T.D.,

BISHOP OF ALBANY.

DELIVERED BEFORE THE CONVENTION OF THE DIOCESE OF ALBANY, 1876.

"In this connection, I beg to call the attention of the Clergy to a list which I have printed in the appendix of books suitable for a Sunday-school Library. Remote from the cities, as so many of our parishes are, it will, I believe, be of real service to the Clergy; and I commend it with great confidence as presenting the best sort of reading for such a library; for its compilation is due to the kind interest of a Christian woman, whose culture, experience, and devotion admirably qualify her for the work."

The list of books referred to, omitting such as are now out of print, etc., together with others that have from time to time been selected and approved by the compiler of the original list, and which, as a whole, is familiarly known as the

we will send, post free, to any address, and shall be glad to receive orders for any or all of them at prices named.

NOTE.—This list is not a commendation of the publications of any one house, but is a selection made with a view of giving the BEST BOOKS FOR THE PURPOSE, from the lists of a large number of publishers at home and abroad. Its usefulness as a guide to the selection of books suitable for Sunday-school libraries has been acknowledged in most gratifying terms from many persons. We strongly recommend it as being a far better list of books for Church Schools than any other with which we are acquainted.

"It is really a delight in these days to take up the publications of the Christian Knowledge Society. They are unexceptionable in moral tone, in literary quality, and in general interest."—NEW YORK TIMES.

Jacob's present. GENESIS, XXXII. His name changed.

AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him.
2 And when Jacob saw them, he said, This is God's host: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim.
3 And Jacob sent messengers before him to Esau his brother unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom.
4 And he commanded them, saying, Thus shall ye speak unto my lord Esau; Thy servant Jacob saith thus, I have sojourned with Laban, and stayed there until now:
5 And I have oxen, and asses, flocks, and menservants, and womenservants: and I have sent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy sight.
19 And so commanded he the second, and the third, and all that followed the droves, saying, On this manner shall ye speak unto Esau, when ye find him.
20 And say ye moreover, Behold, thy servant Jacob is behind us. For he said, I will appease him with the present that goeth before me, and afterward I will see his face; peradventure he will accept of me.
21 So went the present over before him: and himself lodged that night in the company.
22 And he rose up that night, and took his two wives, and his two womenservants, and his eleven sons, and passed over the ford Jabbok.

To the chief Musician upon Muth-labben, A Psalm of David.

I WILL praise thee, O LORD, with my whole heart; I will shew forth all thy marvellous works.
2 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will sing praise to thy name, O thou most High.
3 When mine enemies are turned back, they shall fall and perish at thy presence.

PSALM X.

1 David complaineth to God of the outrage of the wicked. 12 He prayeth for remedy. 16 He professeth his confidence.

WHY standest thou afar off, O LORD? why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?

Elisha raiseth the II. KINGS, IV. Shunammite's son.

CHAPTER IV.

1 Elisha multiplieth the widow's oil. 8 He giveth a son to the good Shunammite. 18 He raiseth again her dead son. 38 At Gilgal he healeth the deadly pottage. 42 He satisfieth an hundred men with twenty loaves.

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen.

2 And Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou in the house? And she said, Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the house, save a pot of oil.

3 Then he said, Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 And he said unto his father, My head, my head. And he said to a lad, Carry him to his mother.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he sat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And she went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and shut the door upon him, and went out.

22 And she called unto her husband, and said, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the asses, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he said, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon, nor sabbath. And she said, It shall be well.

24 Then she saddled an ass, and said to

The judgment of EZEKIEL, mount Seir.

CHAPTER XXXV.

The judgment of mount Seir for their hatred of Israel.

MOREOVER the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
2 Son of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,
3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee most desolate.
4 I will lay thy cities waste, and boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.
14 Thus saith the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.
15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

2 Son of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesy against it,
3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee most desolate.
4 I will lay thy cities waste, and boasted against me, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard them.
14 Thus saith the Lord GOD; When the whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.
15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea, even all of it: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

Paul's defence THE ACTS, 26. before Agrippa.

CHAPTER 26.

Paul, in the presence of Agrippa, declareth his life from his childhood, 12 and how miraculously he was converted, and called to his apostleship. 24 Festus chargeth him to be mad, whereunto he answereth modestly. 28 Agrippa is almost persuaded to be a Christian. 31 The whole company pronounce him innocent.

THEN Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself:
2 I think myself happy, king Agrippa, because I shall answer for rusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them.
11 And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities.
12 Whereupon as I went to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests,

Christ talketh with ST. JOHN, a woman of Samaria.

CHAPTER IV.

1 Christ talketh with a woman of Samaria, and revealeth himself unto her. 27 His disciples marvel. 31 He declareth to them his zeal to God's glory. 39 Many Samaritans believe on him. 43 He departeth into Galilee, and healeth the ruler's son that lay sick at Capernaum.

By the best American and European Writers. Edited by JOHN J. LALOR.

DISTINGUISHED COMMENDATION.

"I have had them (the volumes of the Cyclopædia) long enough to prize them higly and to use them almost daily for reference. The work shows patient research and the most felicitous arrangement. I regard it as a model. It cannot fail to have great popularity."—JAMES G. BLAINE.

"I have carefully examined the first volume of the 'Cyclopædia of Political Science.' I like it and recommend it. It supplies a want in American Economic Literature which has long been recognized."

DAVID A. WELLS, Norwich, Conn.

"I have looked over the Cyclopædia pretty carefully, and it seems to me one of the most important contributions to Political Science that has ever been made in this country. The articles are well chosen and ably written. It is a book that ought to be in every library."—PROF. JOHN FISKE, Cambridge, Mass.

". . . The work seems to me judicious in its plan and objects, and promises to be of great utility and value."

Very truly yours, S. J. TILDEN.

"Of very great value. These books, like a radius, sweep around the circle of political knowledge."

PROF. DAVID SWING, Chicago.

"A work convenient in form, trustworthy in statement, comprehensive in scope. It will be a most convenient reference-book for all who are interested in the political history of America, and in the broader subject of the progress of modern civilization."—D. C. GILMAN, President of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

TALES BEFORE SUPPER.

Translated from the French of GAUTIER and of MERIMEE, by MYNDART VERELST (the translator of the "After-Dinner Stories from Balzac"), and preceded by an introduction from Mr. EDGAR SALTUS, author of "The Philosophy of Disenchantment" and "The Anatomy of Negation." Paper, 50 cents. Cloth, $1.25.

These Tales, which now appear for the first time in English dress, are regarded as the masterpieces of their respective authors. In the initial story, "Avatar," the reader assists at a metamorphosis more marvellous than any that Cagliostro ever devised: in the companion piece, "The Venus of Ille," will be found that commingling of the matter-of-fact and the impossible which has placed Merimée's stories on the front shelves of fiction.

BOOKS RELATING TO CALIFORNIA.

A CALIFORNIA PILGRIMAGE.

TOLD IN VERSE BY ONE OF THE PILGRIMS, AMELIA WOODWARD TRUESDELL.

The work does not purport to be a history of Missions, but only what the title implies—a visit to the old shrines. To local descriptions and legends are added such allusions to familiar events of Mission History as seemed desirable, with such fragmentary thoughts as would naturally be suggested to minds appreciative of the only bits of antiquity to be found in this new land. It will be remembered that Junipero Serra was the first Franciscan missionary who came to Alta California. Having been appointed President of the future Missions, he arrived on the shore of San Diego Bay, with a few brother Franciscans and a small band of Spanish soldiers, in 1769. There he founded the first of those Missions, which, in turn, became the foundation of civilization on this coast. Soon after the arrival of the Spaniards in San Diego, Capt. Portala, with a portion of the devoted band, started on an overland journey for Monterey. In their wanderings they came to San Francisco Bay, and claimed it for Spain and the saint whose name it bears. At various stations between the two bays Missions were established, to which Father Serra devoted himself with unremitting fervor until his death, in 1784. The work was then carried on by men inspired by the same zeal for God a nd the King of Spain, until a series of political changes, culminating about the year 1840, utterly destroyed the power of the Missions.

125 pages, square 16mo, with elaborate gold stamp and red edges, with frontispiece engraving of the Carmel Mission, from a Sketch by Keith. Price, $1.25.

A TRIP TO ALASKA.

A Narrative of What was Seen and Heard during a Summer Cruise in Alaskan Waters. By GEORGE WARDMAN, U. S. Treasury Agent at the Seal Islands.

The author of this volume was formerly on the staff of the Pittsburg Gazette—a journalistic experience which has served him well in the preparation of his free and breezy narrative. After receiving an appointment by the United States Government, Mr. Wardman sailed, in 1879, from San Francisco direct for Sitka, the Fur Seal Islands, the sea-otter grounds, and other points in Alaskan waters. The opening chapters contain a full account of the voyage, and description of many places and incidents pertaining thereto. The first anchorage made by the steamer in Alaskan waters was in Karta Bay, before one of the most interesting villages on the coast. Here dwell the Hyda Indians, famous makers of canoes and carved poles, and equally famous as great hunters and fishers. Chapter ix. is entitled "Seal-Skin Sacques," and gives a very pleasing and accurate account of the seal fisheries of the Prybilov Islands, in Behring Sea. Seal killing on these islands for furs is nearly all done in about six weeks—from June 10th to July 20th. But the contents of this book cannot be described in a circular. The remaining chapter headings, "The Fur West," "Islands, Rocks, and Mummies," "Our Arctic Relations," "Killing the White Whale," etc., will afford some idea of the scope, but little of the richness, of the author's narrative. Mr. Wardman's book will correct many errors in regard to the popular notions of Alaskan territory.

1 vol., 16mo, cloth, 237 pages. Price, $1.25.

WITH THE INVADER; Glimpses of the New Southwest.

BY EDWARDS ROBERTS.

One of the most delightfully written books of travel in the Southwest yet published. Dealing with the picturesque features of New Mexico, Arizona, and Northern Old Mexico, it has one chapter devoted to California's most popular resort, Santa Barbara, and throughout the work many valuable facts regarding the country are given. While not pretending to give an exhaustive account of the Southwest, the author presents the more striking peculiarities of the region in an original and entertaining manner, and pictures the quaint oddities of such cities as Santa Fé, El Paso del Norte, Chihuahua, Guaymas, and Santa Barbara with entertaining vividness. In Arizona the writer finds much that is interesting, and his description of the scenery in that land of high mountains and secluded valleys forms one of the most attractive chapters of the book. The work is fully illustrated by a series of original engravings by Lelia C. Chamberlain, made from sketches by J. Harrison Wright, Mary E. Ingalsbe, Peter Moran, Henry R. Poore, and Edmund H. Garrett.

16mo, illustrated, 150 pages, with embellished cover. Price, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.
The First Edition will be 5000 copies.

COMMON SCHOOL ENGLISH.

By Mr. JAS. G. KENNEDY, Head Inspecting Teacher of the San Francisco Schools, and FRED H. HACKETT, author of "Pure English." A Manual for Teachers.....Price, 50 cents.

The large majority of educators in all parts of the country are of one opinion with regard to the study of the English Language.
It is claimed that the essentials of the English language can be far more profitably presented in a simple and concise manner, than by burdening both pupil and teacher with a mass of unimportant technicalities which are usually incorporated in the old-fashioned text-books in this branch of study. The manual now in press is intended to aid teachers in imparting a knowledge of this subject in its most simple form.

Goodholme's Domestic Cyclopædia of Practical Information, (New Edition, revised.)

"The most exhaustive work of the kind (if the kind can really be said to exist outside of this work), and in all ways the most useful in every direction, is 'Goodholme's Domestic Cyclopædia of Practical Information.' It is, in the largest and best sense, a handbook for household use—not a compilation of second-hand misinformation, by two or three clever hacks, under the supervision of an incompetent editor, but the work of many experts and specialists. Nothing that concerns the well-being of a household and its inmates has been passed over by this exhaustive Cyclopædia, by studying which and following its directions we can make our homes good homes indeed. It is one of the very few books of which it can be truly said that they were needed, and that they supply the need. It is practical, it is comprehensive, and it is indispensable."

Richard Henry Stoddard.

"It is constantly referred to in my own household, and we have learned to place confidence in the variety and value of its information."

Edmund Clarence Stedman.

Hotel AND Boarding-House Books

The attention of the Book-Trade is respectfully called to WHITEHEAD'S New Book, No. 4, or COOKING FOR PROFIT.

A new American Cook-Book, adapted to the wants of all who serve meals for a price. Second Edition. Cloth, about, 400 pages, $3.00.

The first part is a handbook to the Restaurant, Lunch-Counter, Oyster-House and Ice-Cream business. The second part, "Eight Weeks at a Summer Resort," is the diary of an experienced chef, cooking for a Summer Boarding-House. It gives the cost of board, the cost of each meal, and of every dish made, all the details of the summer-hotel business, and the probable and possible profits. The one hundred pattern bills-of-fare comprise the most of the dishes required in any hotel. The leading idea is the application of skill in cookery to reduce the cost of living. The third part, "Artistic Cookery," gives illustrations of Ornamental Dishes for Banquets, etc., and instructions for making them.

The San Francisco Hotel Gazette, whose editors are well acquainted with the contents of "Cooking for Profit," says: "We believe it will prove to be the most valuable work ever devoted to the culinary art."

Cyclopædia of American Literature.

From the Earliest Date to the Present Time.

NEW EDITION, Revised by M. LAIRD SIMONS.

With nearly 1000 Portraits, Autographs, Authors' Residences, Buildings connected with our Literary History, etc.

Of the merits of "THE CYCLOPÆDIA OF AMERICAN LITERATURE," edited by Evert A. Duyckinck and the late George L. Duyckinck, it is needless to speak. It is the standard work in its special and attractive department. It contains graphic sketches of the Lives and Writings of over eight hundred of the most illustrious American Authors, accompanied by fitting extracts from the best of their works, and illustrated by numerous Portraits, Autographs, and other Engravings. In itself it is a WHOLE LIBRARY OF AMERICAN BELLES-LETTRES, adapted to the most refined home circle. It caters, alike, to the taste of the scholar and the general reader. In no other work are so broadly and plainly set forth the greater and lesser landmarks of American Literature, whether of the past or of to-day. Its full, clear pages are a noble monument to the fruits of the life-toil of American Authors.
